Cookies are sent to a user's browser from our servers and are stored on the user's computer hard drive. Sending a cookie to a user's browser enables us to collect Non-Personal information about that user and keep a record of the user's preferences when utilizing our services, both on an individual and aggregate basis.

CPU may use both persistent and session cookies; persistent cookies remain on your computer after you close your session and until you delete them, while session cookies expire when you close your browser.

Most Internet browsers automatically accept cookies, but if you do not want your information to be collected through the use of cookies, you can change the settings on your browser to stop accepting cookies or to prompt you before accepting a cookie from the websites you visit. However, please be aware that some features of the Service may not function properly if you disable cookies. The Site does not currently recognize browser 'Do Not Track' signals.
